MAGIC ISLANDS IN COL. MOVIE

The Community Center Foundation is sponsoring a lecture with colored movies by C. J. Albrecht, a noted traveler, adventurer, naturalist and Wild Animal sculptor.

The program will be given in the Palos Park village hall, 123d street and 89th avenue, Friday, May 9 at 8 p.m.

This noted speaker will show and narrate "Honorulu and the Magic Islands", which shows the beauty of the islands, the interesting spectacle of queer, bright colored fish and strange sea life including the mysterious octopus. Graceful natives are shown doing the whirling sword and hula dances. Surf riders on the dangerously high breakers and volcanoes in action lend excitement to the movies.

Mr. Albrecht is a member of the Adventurer's club and they considered this a noteworthy production.

Proceeds from the ticket sale will be used to complete the new craft shop at the Foundation. Tickets may be purchased at the door or may be obtained by phoning Palos Park 780.

Remember Mom On Mother's Day

On Mother's Day remember Mom, In some special little way, Just let her know, that you love her so, And she'll be happy and gay. Go visit your Mom on her day of days, If you want to see her smile, And when you are near, and bringing good cheer, She'll be so glad all the while. But if the miles are too many between, Remember to drop her a line, Or send her a gift, but she'll get a lift, From, "I love you Mom, hope you're fine." No matter where your Mom may be, Even in Heaven above, She'll get a thrill, and her heart will fill, When you tell her of your love.

MOKENA WATER TANK EMPTY BY 4 HYDRANTS OPEN ALL NITE

James Fassett of Mokena was elected to fill the vacancy on the Mokena village board caused by the resignation several months ago by John Scarth. Previous to the vote Mayor Spiess reported that Mr. Fassett stated he did not want to be a candidate. Mr. Spiess suggested the name of Thomas Powers. The vote by ayes and nays was, Fassett, ayes: Anderson, Williams, Hohenstein and Hentsch; nays: McMillan and Spiess. Powers, ayes: Spiess and McMillan; nays: Anderson, Williams, Hohenstein and Hentsch.

Mr. Anderson recommended that the letter written by Fred Lehmann, following a discussion be tabled until the August meeting.

A letter was read from the Civic association showing their appreciation for the publishing of the auditor's report of the village treasurer's book and for the removing of snow during the winter.

David McMillan, as chairman, was instructed to notify Police Magistrate Balaz to collect all vehicle licenses yet unpaid.

The board decided to give dog owners in the village who have not secured their dog licenses another notice of 30 days.

George Bennett presented his resignation as police officer. It was turned over to the police committee.

Several complaints were received from citizens and Charles Rose in person, at the meeting, on the deplorable condition of Third street. During the discussion on the subject by the board members, it was brought out that the work done on that street last fall which amounted to about $1300, was wasted as not being done properly along that street requested to have the street lowered so that the water from it would not run onto their property and therefore the top was cut down, resulting in the conditions as exist today of the many holes. It seems that by lowering the street level, the foundation of the road, which takes years to build into a firm condition, was interfered with. The streets and allies committee was instructed to make a thorough checkup and give their report on that street.

The fire and water committee reported that some time during Sunday night four fire hydrants on north Wolf road had been opened. Two of them were flowing at full capacity and two at part capacity, all night. Monday morning many complaints were received of low pressure. This was a dangerous affair for in case of a fire in the village that night there would have been no water with which to fight the fire. It also placed an unnecessary burden on the pump which was running all night long as the tank was emptied.

Attorney Sherk presented his written opinion on the legality of the water main extension as done in the past and it was his opinion it was strictly illegal. Upon hearing that report, Thomas Powers, an attorney, called Sherk's attention to the fact that he, Sherk, did not advise the board of a situation in Riverdale, Ill., where water was extended to hundreds of lots by an individual contractor. Mr. Powers showed where that case carried in the courts from 1932 to 1947 when it was ruled as legal by the supreme court and the village of Riverdale had to pay for that water extension.

Mr. Sherk stated he was approached by several Mokena citizens who wanted him to force the village to start action to recover the money already to Everett Cooper and to stop further payment on the water main extension as done by him and others. Mr. Sherk stated he could not start such a suit as he could not represent both parties, being as he is already the village attorney.

The board accepted Mr. Sherk's opinion and instructed him to contact the party or parties involved as to arrive at a settlement in this controversy. The board adopted a resolution presented by the Methodist conference for permission to use the southeast corner of the village park for church purposes; the specific portion being 100 feet north from the corner and 134 feet west of the corner.

Fred Rauch of the Mokena Oil company requested permission to install additional fuel tanks at his place of business. The Conoco Oil company presented plans for a contemplated gas station to be located at corner Front street and Wolf road. The building would be of concrete construction. The station would be open from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. and would sell retail gas, and would grease and wash cars. This was turned over to the building and zoning committee.

Permission was granted the Salvation Army to hold a Donut Day in Mokena in June.

The Public Service company representative who was present stated the company would install street lights according to their contract on existing poles. They would not install any new poles because of the excess cost of same.

The board plans to call a special meeting to meet with the engineers who are working on the water and sewer projects.

Have you ever watched the fire-fighters battling a blaze, large or small in this community of villages? When that fire siren blows, how these men ever make it to the fire station, get the truck started and on the way in such a short time always seems like a miracle. Before you know it they reach the scene of the fire, dig right in, connect the hose, get the water flowing and play it on the blaze. Sometimes they have very stubborn fires and hard to get at, but they keep right on going not stopping until the fire is out. Even then, they take particular care to see that it does not start up again and watch it for many hours.

When one stops to think that all this is done without one cent of pay, it is hard to believe. People now days don't do anything for nothing. But the firemen do. They are the watch men of our homes. They don't wait to discuss the matter, if they should or should not go, nor do they have to be told they must go, they go because they want to, and because they have the interest of everyone's home including their own, at heart. That is true democracy and where the entire village is united. If they did it for pay they would surely earn it. But those men work hard without one cent of pay. Hard to believe, isn't it? No wonder everyone respects them.

So now, this Saturday night is where the picture is somewhat turned around. They are calling US, and it remains to be seen if all will rush to THEIR aid. But it isn't alone their aid. We are really aiding ourselves when we buy tickets or attend the dance this Saturday night, which is the Mokena firemen's annual dance. And at the same time a good time will be afforded to all. So by attending the dance we help our firemen, our own fire department, and ourselves by buying tickets which go to maintain and improve that fire department.

We really ought to make this dance an open house and thus give honor to those men, by our attendance, who are always on the job, who take care of the truck and its equipment, even though we do not dance or play cards.

And by the way, have you sent in your money for those tickets for this dance? Everyone wants to, but if it isn't done at once, things are so easily forgotten. The slogan is: "Be seeing you at the Firemen's Dance" in the VFW hall in Mokena.

Blame for Erosion Rests on Poor Soil Management Methods

THE blame for soil erosion usually rests on poor soil management rather than on washing of the land, declared Dr. L. D. Bayer, formerly with the Ohio State Agronomy Department.

"When we ask the question, 'How serious is soil erosion?' he said, 'we probably have phrased the query wrongly. A better question would be 'How serious is poor soil management?'"

Poor soil management, he said, affects more people than soil erosion. It affects people on level lands as well as rolling and hilly areas. Good soil management on the rolling lands includes more than erosion control. "Good soil management," he said, "is closely allied to good farm management. You do not put grass on a hillside just to control erosion or make the countryside look green. Grass is planted there to make feed for a cow that will produce milk that will help rear a better boy or girl."

He pointed out that good soil management can restore exhausted land to profitable crop production. He cited tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster, where six inches of surface soil was removed from impoverished land. By good soil management, the subsoil's fertility level was brought above the average for Ohio. At Raleigh, N. C., where he formerly was dean of the agricultural college, land that could produce only 10 bushels of corn per acre was changed into pasture. The soil was limed and fertilized with phosphate and potash. Now the legume-grass pasture yields digestible nutrients equivalent to 92 bushels of corn per acre.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

New Type Bulletin Board
EDUCATORS say that a bulletin board in a child's room is a tool for learning. For that matter, a bulletin board is a great convenience in the kitchen, the office and the entry hall. There are numerous places on the farm for using one effectively, such as in the hen house and dairy barn to tally egg and milk production.

The newest form of bulletin board is a piece of Masonite Presdwood, simply cut to the desired size. This is different from most bulletin boards because you don't use thumbtacks to attach clippings, pictures and the like. You use scotch tape. Keep a roll of scotch tape handy. The tabs used to attach items to the Presdwood can be used time and again. Your new-type bulletin board can be suspended like a picture, with the wire attached through holes drilled in the top corners, or it can be attached directly to the wall with screws directed into the studs. Another convenient location is the back of a door.

USE THE WANT ADS

Keep Corn Plant's 'Pipe Lines' Open To Get High Yields

KEEP the corn plant's pipe line system open, if you want to get high yields per acre this year.

You can do this by making sure the soil furnishes the crop with a well-balanced supply of the three major plant nutrients—nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

Each corn plant has from 1 to 1½ miles of interior tubes or pipe lines, according to Dr. George N. Hoffer, Midwest manager of the American Potash Institute. These tubes carry nitrogen, phosphate, potash, calcium and magnesium from the root tips up to the leaves. Here the nutrients are manufactured into starches, sugars and proteins. Other tubes carry these foods back to the roots and through the ear shanks for developing kernels.

The joints or nodes in a corn plant are distribution centers where all the pipe lines are intertwined into a mesh work of smaller tubes. Surrounding this mesh work are special tissues which regulate the workings of the pipe lines.

When the soil's plant nutrient supply is out of balance—particularly if potash is lacking—the tubes in the joint tissues in the base of the corn plant get clogged. Then the roots starve, the stalks become weakened and infected and the plants lodge. When tubes in the ear nodes fail to work, kernels cannot be filled. Ears do not mature.

Tissue tests on many Midwestern farms last summer showed that corn plants with defective pipe lines were starving for potash. Joint tissues were swollen, discolored and disorganized due to accumulations of iron and other metals.

Healthy plants with efficiently operating pipe lines had plenty of potash. Potash keeps the joint tissues active in producing protective enzymes that protect the inner health of the corn plants.

When all the plant nutrients are in well balanced supply you will get thrifty, high producing corn crops.

Buy Fertilizer Now To Avoid Shortages At Seeding Time

FARMERS were advised to take immediate action in placing orders while supplies are still available, if they want to be sure of having on hand the fertilizer they need for 1952 spring seeding operations.

More severe local shortages of fertilizer in various Midwestern areas are predicted unless finished plant food moves promptly from factory warehouses through dealers to farmers.

Some essential raw materials are critically scarce, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. That is particularly true of phosphate due to rearmament needs which have curtailed civilian use of sulfur.

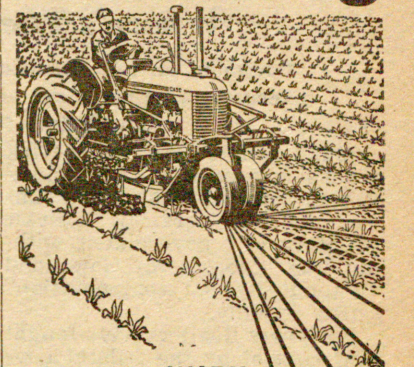

Although factory capacity is sufficient to handle all the raw materials available, bottlenecks due to a pile-up of finished goods, may cut down production in many plants. Then manufacturers may have a difficult time providing fertilizer supplies for farmers when they need the plant food most.

A fertilizer producer who has to pass up a carload of nitrogen or potash today because of a lack of storage space, probably won't be able to get it tomorrow. It will go to a producer who has room to take it in and process it. Raw materials move into areas where farmers want fertilizer the most.

Farmers can cooperate in helping manufacturers keep production levels high to meet record demands, by taking delivery of their fertilizer now, so finished goods will move steadily out of factories and raw materials can move in.

Where's The Constitution?

Comment on the Constitution by Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice-president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, follows:

Many people are wondering what's happened to our Constitution, especially the Fifth Amendment. Seizure of private property by government without due process of law and "without just compensation" grows steadily.

For years Realtors have fought rent control by the federal government because it seized "without just compensation" 17 million rental units, determined who should occupy them and the sub-economic rents to be paid. Many who were luke-warm in their attitude towards our battle are now aroused because they see it can happen to the big fellow, as well as the little fellow.

Proposals were made last year through amendments to the Defense Production Act to authorize the President to take over real property which he deemed necessary in the interest of national defense. "Notwithstanding any other law." Authority was also included to take property and to build industrial facilities and operate them. This reach for dictatorial power was defeated, and more moderate provisions which proceeded within law were adopted. This, too, was a part of our battle.

It should be remembered that for nearly two years the railroads have been operating under government control. The President "took over" the railroads on Aug. 27, 1950, at 4 p.m.

Step by step our government seeks to follow the pattern of state controls established by the labor party in England. Only the reasons given are different. Over there the plea was that everyone should be cut down to the same level. With us national defense or military reasons are advanced.

It should be clear by this time that government management produces less, not more. Our multi-billion dollar gifts to other nations should prove that wealth and well-being come from a free economy.

Realtors can take pride in the fact that they have seen the dangers of big government and the abandonment of Constitutional protections for years and have sought to arouse the nation on the issues involved.

The Constitution was written in an emergency and sought to protect the people against dictatorial emergency action by the federal government.

Our only sure safeguard is to demand of Congress and of our federal government that the Constitution be obeyed in its plain language, and that no weasel laws or executive acts shall be permitted to distort and destroy its meaning.

ORGANIZED LABOR AND THE STEEL SEIZURE

The seizure of the Steel Industry by President Truman under his phony "inherent powers" carries with its implications that are as dangerous to organized labor as to capital. It constitutes a threat to the basic rights of labor known as "Collective Bargaining".

American labor under our collective bargaining system has advanced to a position without parallel in the history of the world. Labor should be asking, "Are we to give up our system of collective bargaining for a Government-dictated policy? Are we going to permit the Government to tell the worker what wages he shall get and what hours he shall work?"

If a President has the power to set higher wages and shorter hours through some appointed Stabilization Board, then by the same token he can set lower wages and longer hours. This is what happened in all totalitarian countries—Italy under Mussolini, Germany under Hitler, and Russia under Stalin. Are the workers of America going to permit a temporary advantage today to blind them to what can and will happen to them tomorrow?

Collective bargaining is the cornerstone of organized labor in America. It is the most important birthright of organized labor. It should not be sold for any mere temporary advantage that may be offered. It should be prized and guarded as the most precious possession of organized labor.

Under a dictated economy, under a Government by men—not by law, under a Chief Executive who claims "inherent powers", there can be no such thing as collective bargaining. Organized labor cannot afford to remain silent while collective bargaining is endangered. Today capital and management are being pushed around; tomorrow, as sure

The New Lenox Garden club met Thursday afternoon May 1 in the home of Mrs. Everett Merfeld. Dessert, coffee was served at 1:30 by the hostess assisted by Mrs. George Close and Mrs. A. D. Miller. There was a plant and seed exchange among members. Donald Pender, a representative of Swift and Co. was the speaker who showed colored slides on flowers and vegetables which everyone enjoyed. Members and friends will go by bus May 22 to White Pine State park, where they will spend the day. Buses will leave the Elliott drug store at 8:30 a. m. Anyone wanting to go is asked to call Mrs. Mildred Houchin. Those attending are asked to take their own box lunch, and coffee will be served there. The total cost for the trip will be $2.65.

The New Lenox Women's Bowling league enjoyed their end-of-season banquet Wednesday night April 30 at 7:30 at Schrage's. The New Lenox Lumber Co. team was awarded the winning trophy for the season's bowling. New officers elected for the coming year were president, Marge Allen; vice president, Faye Hauck; secretary, Carol Krohn; treasurer, Grace Mitchell; and sergeant at arms, Gertrude Wennlund. Several pins were awarded to those who joined the 200 and 500 club series.

The New Lenox Unit of Home Bureau will meet in the home of Mrs. Edward Berens, 19 Hickory street in Joliet May 16 instead of May 23, the regular meeting date.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bruns entertained in their home Saturday night at a party honoring Miss Barbara Miller and William Bethell, of Joliet, who are to be married this month. The evening was spent informally and a gift from the group was presented to the honored guests. A buffet supper was served at midnight from the dining room table centered with a bouquet of spring flowers. Bill Bethell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bethell former New Lenox residents. Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schutz of Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckler, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Vally, Miss Audrey Gilgen, Stewart Ayres, and John Burlingame.

Mokena School News

We celebrated Easter in first grade Thursday afternoon. We made baskets and filled them with grass. They thought that was all. When we were at rhythm band practice the bunny came and put jelly beans in each basket. It takes so little to make children happy.

Our science has led us to observe growing things. We have watched pussy willows get roots. We made a picture of pussy willows using cotton for the pussy willows.

We are observing bulb growth by watching onions grow.

Each of us is having an experience with seed growth. We planted nasturtia in individual cans. We each water our plants. Many changes are taking place.

One day last week we each illustrated one of our "take away two" problems using kites, balloons, boats and flags. We were glad to let Miss Dorothy Kohl take this set of papers to show at her Junior College classes.

One of the highlights last week was the making of horses with realistic tails made out of heavy twine. We staged a "Wild West Show" riding into Mrs. Wheatley's room and telling the names of our horses.

Reading is still our most important subject. Since so many have been absent with measles we are giving more individual help than ever.

SECOND GRADE

In science we learned that all plants need plenty of sunshine and moisture if they are to become healthy plants. To prove this we are performing an experiment. Ronald Yunker volunteered to bring some beans to school. He and Lois Bruhn planted these in two glasses. One glass is kept in a dark place and receives no water. The other one gets plenty of water and sunshine.

We have studied about the many wild flowers that we see in the spring. We learned that we should not pick many wild flowers, because they are flowers that no one plants. Some flowers must be left so there will be seeds for new plants.

Betty Lehmann brought enough pictures of birds, animals and flowers for every one in the room. These pictures were pasted on colored paper and placed on the lockers.

We received a number of new library books last week. We make certain that our hands are clean before we handle any of the books.

Many children from our room are absent because of measles.

Grades Three and Four

Tuffy was chosen by the children as a proper name for the turtle which Billy Kite brought to live with Rascal.

Pictures were drawn by third grade children to illustrate part of the story "Mrs. Goose's Bath." Each child then traded his picture with a classmate and the classmate wrote a sentence stating what he thought the drawer was attempting to depict.

We are making a rhyme book using the stories of this Unit in reading, as subjects. So far we have written "Herbert and You" and "Lazy Sojo." Before putting the self illustrated rhymes in books we are posting them on the bulletin board for a few days.

Some children have done very neat original work in showing the division facts in drawings or cut-outs. This work gives the children opportunity for more self-expression as well as to show their understanding of the division process.

Many of our children have been absent due to a measles epidemic. We are happy to report that some children have recuperated and have returned to school. Most boys and girls have done very well in keeping up school work during the period of time it was necessary for them to be out of school during incubation. Several had younger brother or sister in first grade who contracted the disease first.

Our contemplated assembly program has been postponed until all, or nearly all of the children are back in school after their absence with measles. Two groups were organized in third grade to dramatize the story "Hot as Summer, Cold as Winter." Each group had a committee chairman; characters were chosen and parts planned by the children in groups. After a planning and practice period the story was acted out for our room. Later the groups were allowed to dramatize the story for other rooms in school.

—Joy Leedom

Fourth - Fifth Grades

Both classes are spending much time in reviewing work in our Language books.

Western states are being cut out of colored papers, by each 5th grader, and pasted on large sheets of manila. Afterwards we write the important facts of each state; including the capital.

Our room was invited to attend the "tree planting" ceremony by Mrs. Sehnann's pupils. It was an unusual experience; one that most of us had never before witnessed.

Beautiful spring flowers and shrubbery have been brought to glorify our room.

The 5th grade studied the "Reed Zone" for science; learning and drawing the plants and animals that grow in that particular location.

Bird pictures were drawn by all and displayed in our room.

We enjoyed two skits presented by Mrs. Leedom's room. It was a pleasure to see a number of our pupils present at PTA Family Night.

6th Grade News

Donald Lehmann and Roger Swart completed a course in Junior Forestry at the Morton Arboretum last fall. The boys, acting as leaders, presented the material they had learned to their classmates. The entire class participated in the experiments and making of Tree Booklets. Because they completed all the requirements of the Arboretum for the course the boys received certificates of Junior Forestry. Mrs. Watts of the Arboretum praised the class on our work and told us we had earned a sugar maple tree. We received the tree last week, and planted it in observance of Arbor Day. We dedicated the tree to our teacher, Mrs. Sehnann, during the tree planting exercises.

We welcome John Westman as a classmate. John was enrolled in a school in Florida before he came to Mokena.

Plans have been completed for our field trip on May 17. We are going to the Museum of Science and Industry and the Children's Goodman Theatre. The play we shall see is "Puss in Boots."

Our room was awarded the PTA trophy last month.

Train 'Hold-Up' Holds up Motorists

(CNS) Hundreds of motorists were stranded one night recently when the long freight train stopped to let an Illinois Central train pass at 120th street near Halsted.

The freight train, operated by the Pennsylvania railroad company, started up only to be stopped again when the engineer was signaled that part of the train was being left behind.

Someone had uncoupled two cars. The engineer backed up to allow crewhands to re-couple the box cars.

The train started up again only to be stopped once more. It happened again—two box cars in another section of the train had been uncoupled.

This happened eight times with the engineer starting the train, getting a signal that part of the train was being left behind, backing up to pick up the standing box cars, and starting the train again.

Meanwhile rush hour traffic was being tied up for blocks. Impatient motorists leaned heavily on their horns, wondering what was happening. The line of automobiles stretched for about a mile in both directions at 11th and Morgan, 115th and Morgan, and 119th and Halsted.

The commotion and disorder attracted a crowd of about 150 persons, mostly children.

Morgan Park police finally were called and a squad of detectives went up and down the tracks in search of the "fun-makers."

After a short search the detectives, Jack Wright, Howard Hurley and John Bierney, found 3 boys—all under 13 years old—uncoupling box cars with a heavy bar.

The boys were taken to the Juvenile Home; the train finally went on its way; and the hundreds of motorists, many of whom no doubt were late for supper, stepped on accelerators and let out clutches and zoomed away.

A Pennsylvania railroad detective, who arrived on the scene shortly after the boys were captured, said scores of children in the crowd called him "the most ungodly names."

"The train 'hold-up' was really something by then," he said. He refused to give his name for publication, saying the police were handling the "mess."

Most Sensational Ride Yet Devised

The most spectacular amusement park feature to be imported from Europe since the Ferris Wheel will make its American debut at Riverview Park, Western and Belmont avenues, this season it was announced today by George Schmidt, president of the 70-acre fun center which is to open Wednesday, May 14.

The new ride is the "Rotor," invented in Germany but manufactured in England, which ranked as the biggest sensation of the Festival of Britain Funfair in London during the summer of 1951.

Riverview's edition of the Rotor, first to be built for export, was shipped from England on April 19 and will be installed at Riverview in time for the park's big opening day.

Housed in a 60-foot structure of tubular steel, timer and canvas shaped like a small gas-holder, the Rotor is both a spectacular ride and an outstanding spectacular attraction. It is a huge vertical drum that rotates at high speed, "plastering" its 20-odd passengers to the wall by centrifugal force.

When the drum has reached maximum speed, the floor of the Rotor is lowered, leaving the riders transfixed on the sides of the drum. After a brief period of high-speed spinning, the floor is elevated to its normal position and the Rotor slows to a stop with the passengers again standing on the floor.

Terraced galleries around the drum will accommodate approximately 400 spectators at a time, to observe the antics of those patrons who choose to be actual riders.

The Rotor maintained a perfect safety record throughout the long run of the Festival of Britain Funfair as well as at subsequent fairs in England.

Whose Sunday?

Lesson for May 11, 1952

A newspaper column is entitled "My Day;" not such a conceited title as you might think at first glance. Whose day is this, anyway? Yours, of course. What? you ask in surprise. My day? I have to work from morning to night in the house or on the farm or in the schoolroom or in the office or on the road somewhere. My day, indeed! I'd like to get ten minutes of it for myself if I could.

Now wait a minute. Suppose you do have only ten minutes' worth. What do you do with your own personal uninterrupted part of the day?

But that's not the whole story, not the whole question. The day is more yours than you think. For you can bring, and you do bring, to every day you live, a certain mood, an intention, a spirit. The same scene in sunlight and under heavy clouds is quite different. The same person in sickness and in health is not one but two people.

How Will You Feel on Monday? THERE is one day of the week which, as Christians believe, is God's special gift to man. It is for everybody's benefit.

Let us suppose there is a town where everybody works, one way or another, for one man, spending most of their time making one man rich. Six days a week, that is; then comes Sunday and nobody works. This is everybody's day, not the boss's day.

Such a town would be a little hard to find; but even there everybody does have one day.

Jesus said, The Sabbath is made for man. Not for preachers, not for a favored few, not even for Jews and Christians only; but for man. The Jewish Sabbath of which Jesus spoke has its successor in the Christian Sunday. It is quite true that Christians appreciate the day more than atheists; but God made Sunday for man just as he sends rain and sunshine on one and all.

Our forefathers sometimes got hold of Sunday by the wrong handle, just as the Pharisees did in their time, with the Sabbath. They talked a good deal about not "breaking" the Sabbath as if it were a very fragile something to be kept under glass and never touched.

No, Jesus meant that the day is to be used; and the purpose of it is to keep man from being broken.

But that is still not all of it. This blessed day is not simply a day which we rise back, so to speak, to our normal level after the weariness of the week has dragged us down. It should be, and it can be when wisely used, a day on which we can grow, mentally, socially, spiritually.

Do you need a rule or guide on how best to spend your Sundays? Then ask yourself this question: How do I feel Monday mornings? I should be a better person Monday morning than I was on Saturday night. The best way to spend Sunday is to spend it in such a way that I shall begin next week a little better than I began last.

The Lord's Day WHOSE day is it? Jesus said something else about it: The Son of Man (by this he always meant himself) is Lord of the Sabbath. So the Christian church has called it the Lord's Day ever since.

Now this particular Sunday in May happens to be "Mother's Day" in the United States, and every one can understand that there are good ways and poor ways to celebrate Mother's Day. You write your mother or visit her, or if she is gone from this earth you think about her, you spend the day doing the kind of things that she would enjoy doing with you.

So on the Lord's Day you celebrate in Christ's honor.

The Day of God WE must also remember that this is God's Day, the "Sabbath of the Lord thy God." It is his because he gave it; his because it is dedicated to him.

It is for man, yet; but man is never fully man so long as he leaves God out. Man without God is a ship without water, a bird without air, an earth without the sun. Man needs God; and Sunday is the golden day for finding him.

This is the day when we have the most time for reading and hearing and thinking about God's Word; a day when we have greater freedom to do something in his service; a day when the loneliest soul may find the heavenly Friend.

Mothers Bring in Daughters. Joyce Harloff, like her mother Ruth, finds that telephone operating is interesting and often exciting work. These Evanston operators are one of our 241 mother-and-daughter combinations.

Fathers Bring in Sons. Louis, James, Jr., and James Padulas, Sr., of Chicago, is another family team at Illinois Bell. James, Sr., the father, has been with the company for 45 years and will retire on a pension soon. Son James, Jr., has 5 years' service, and Louis has been with us 11 years. There are 385 father-and-son combinations.

Brothers Agree. Howard and George Rausch, of Aurora, are two of the 3,080 Illinois Bell people who can say, my brother (or sister) works for the company, too. "We agree it's a friendly place to work. We like it." Howard has 26 years' service and George has 25 years of service.

5,478"KINFOLK" CAN'T BE WRONG

A short time ago, a survey of our employees showed that no less than 5,478 of them have one or more of their own family working in our company.

When people advise their sons or daughters, brothers or sisters to get a job with Illinois Bell, they must think it's a pretty good company. They must be convinced that it offers its employees good wages, fair treatment and opportunities for promotion. In other words—when you have Automatic Laundry Appliances!

You won't be schedule-bound... when you have modern automatic laundry appliances! "Doing" a laundry is so easy, takes so little time, you can polish it off any hour of any day. You'll add two new days to your week... days you used to spend washing, hanging heavy wet clothes, standing for hours over an ironing board.

Your automatic washer will wash, rinse and spin the clothes while you're busy elsewhere. When washing time is up, you'll simply toss the clothes into the dryer... where they'll tumble and fluff-dry in minutes. Later, whenever you feel like it, you can sit down at your modern rotary ironer and in no time at all the entire laundry's finished!

You won't dread Monday... you won't worry about the weather... and you won't have "ironing backaches"—when you have automatic laundry appliances.

To grub out a stump, dig a trench about two feet deep around the stump near the point where the roots enter the ground. Cut the roots with an axe or a grub hoe as close as you can to the stump. Then roll or slide the stump out of the hole, using a heavy tow chain and your automobile or tractor on the larger stumps.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

As a Matter of Fact...

Out of all the newspaper and magazine columns I read, the ones I enjoy most are those that pack in a whole lot of facts—unrelated facts, but each one an interesting bit of information in itself.

These columns go something like this: "Did you know that humpback whales are addicted to snoring? That bees have been bred with red, brown, and buff-color eyes?"

"Did you know that lead can be converted to gold—at a cost of $1,000,000 an ounce? That a 555-pound fat girl went on a diet and lost 401 pounds in 12 months? That a chrysanthemum has been developed that smells like a violet?"

From where I sit, maybe I'm a kind of "Johnny-one-note." My own columns always seem to revolve around one idea—a plea for us to make sure we respect the other fellow's rights—like the right to vote for your own choice or the right to enjoy a glass of beer now and then. I may not be in style, but I believe my one fact is worth repeating—and remembering!
